Moira Kerr « Loch Lomond Hills »

Land of the thistle and the rowan tree
Scotland a nation, proud and free
Under the Saltire flying high for me
Leading us onward into victory

*Aiming high for all to see
Together we stand, with faith in our land
In times of trial and in victory
Scotland we will be there*

High in the mountains the die was cast
By our forefathers in the past
Vows of unity and peace were made
In a Highland cathedral where the pipers played

*Aiming high for all to see
Together we stand, with faith in our land
In times of trial and in victory
Scotland we will be there*
